

Diversity and inclusion statement

I find myself working for the same regional community, though in different ways.

but should stimulate important conversations around institutional change.

My research is best reflected by the University of Alberta's Statement on Academic Freedom, 2014.