Dear Mr. French:

Thank you for your letter of April 19 regarding Princeton Faith and Action. As you correctly note, students at Princeton engaging in extracurricular activities on campus are free to form organizations devoted to a wide variety of objectives. We guarantee that University recognition will not be withheld from any group pursuing lawful objectives merely because its aims may seem unorthodox. These policies are important to our educational community, and we welcome the opportunity to ensure that they are being fully implemented.

After receiving your letter, Vice President Dickerson, Dean Breidenthal, and I reviewed the requests of Princeton Faith and Action to determine how they should be
